Section 2: Koseki (Family Registry) Findings

2.1 Registry Location

Item	Details
Hon-seki (本籍) Registry Office	Hiroshima-ken, [City]-shi, [Town]-cho [City] City Hall, Civil Affairs Division

Item	Details
Records Available	1870 - Present

2.2 Registered Family Members

We successfully obtained koseki records spanning 4 generations:

1. Tanaka Ichiro (田中一郎) –Family head (戸主)
  - Born: Ansei 2 (1855)
  - Occupation: Farmer (農業)
  - Spouse: Tanaka Hana (田中花)
2. Tanaka Jiro (田中二郎) –Second son (二男)
  - Born: Meiji 13 (1880)
  - Emigration record: “Hawaii emigration”(布哇移住) noted
  - This is your direct ancestor
3. Tanaka Saburo (田中三郎) –Third son (三男)
  - Born: Meiji 16 (1883)
  - Remained as family heir (家督相続人)
  - His descendants maintain the family grave today

2.3 Historical Context

Your ancestor emigrated during the peak of Japanese immigration to Hawaii (1885-1924). The koseki notation “布哇移住”(Hawaii emigration) confirms official departure records.

Section 3: Kamon (Family Crest) Identification

Crest Identification

Item	Details
Kamon Name	Maru ni Mokko (丸に木瓜)
Category	Plant-based crest
Regional Association	Common in Western Japan

Crest Visual

[Crest illustration included in actual report]

A circular crest featuring four stylized quince petals arranged in a cross pattern, enclosed within a thin circular border.

Note: High-resolution vector file (SVG) included in digital delivery

Historical Significance

The Mokko (木瓜) crest represents the quince flower and was widely used by samurai families in western Japan. The circular border (丸) indicates a branch family or adopted usage. This crest was commonly used by:

- Agricultural families in Hiroshima region
- Merchant families in the Edo period
- Branch families of larger clans

Recommendations

- Memorial engraving: This crest works well on wood, stone, and metal
  - Size recommendation: Minimum 2cm diameter for detail visibility
  - Our service: We can create a laser-engraved memorial with this crest
